

SWIFFT Project Team

University of Wisconsin–Whitewater Partner

Dr. Jay Cameron
Associate Professor, Kinesiology Department, University of Wisconsin–Whitewater
cameronj@uww.edu

Dr. Jay Cameron is an associate professor in the kinesiology department at University of Wisconsin–Whitewater. With twelve years of public school teaching experience and eighteen years in higher education, Dr. Cameron provides input and serves as a conduit between SWIFFT and teacher candidates.

Carlos Rodriguez
Project Lead
Curriculum Specialist, Physical Education and Health, Milwaukee Public Schools
rodrigcx@milwaukee.k12.wi.us
(414) 267-1892

Carlos Rodriguez is the curriculum specialist for physical education and health in Milwaukee Public Schools. Mr. Rodriguez was a physical education teacher for fifteen years in the district before taking on the new role in September 2022. Mr. Rodriguez has a passion for working with students and wants to be a voice for the teachers.

Dr. Leslie Ruffalo
Lead Academic Partner
Associate Professor, Family and Community Medicine, Medical College of Wisconsin
lruffalo@mcw.edu

Dr. Leslie Ruffalo is an associate professor in the Department of Family and Community Medicine at the Medical College of Wisconsin. As a researcher, she is eager to investigate public health issues that impact groups of people. Dr. Ruffalo has worked on research projects with Milwaukee Public Schools for nearly fifteen years.